

Giuseppe & Antonietta Gualtieri Miscellaneous Information / History

The following is miscellaneous Giuseppe & Antonietta Gualtieri family information or history.

Once I get more of it, I will try to do a better job of organizing it.

- When Giuseppe (Salvatore's second son Joe) visited Rovito, he and his brother Francesco would sing and sing. One time they recorded it on cassette. (I am trying to get a copy to put on the web site.)
- Giuseppe told his grandkids a story about himself that went something like this:
There was this enormous wine barrel that they kept on the lower floor and once when he tasted the wine – it continued to come out of the opening and they kept drinking it. The wine spilled onto the floor (made of concrete tiles) and the fumes from the fermentation/alcohol, as well as the amount of wine he drank, made Giuseppe sleepy and he fell asleep drunk on the floor. His father Salvatore finally found him (and another brother perhaps.) Dr. Perfecto had to pump his stomach!
